A One-Sided Conversation (from sister to brother)

Creative Writing by Savannah Arnold, 7th grade English*

"We are already in enough trouble so don't make it any worse. If you break that you'll have to buy it so don't touch it. We don't need to be in any more trouble so just sit over there in that chair and don't touch anything! James, I'm not kidding. This is not a joke and we will get grounded. And if I get grounded I can't hang out with my friends, I'll only be able to hang out with you. And I don't want to hang out with you, so don't touch anything!"

Tok Wolverines

The lady wolverines traveled to Kenny lake for their last away trip before Regionals. Kenny lake was honoring their seniors in their last home game and honored Tok's one senior Tori Cronk as well. The girls played a great match taking one game to a nail biting 28-26 before falling to the lady hawks. Great job ladies! Don't forget Regionals is on Dec 2-3. Come support your lady wolverines!

Tok School would like to welcome Eldon Lawrence, born 11-15-2011. He weighed 8'1

Congrats Mrs. Hiersche!! We all miss you.

Tok School would like to wish everyone a Happy Thanksgiving.

5th Grade took a virtual tour of Plimoth Plantation

Letters from the 5th grade

I learned that the Wampanoag people had toys that looked the same as the Plimoth Plantations toys. The Plimoth Plantation came in the Mayflower in 1502 and this was after Columbus arrived in 1492. The Mayflower had to live on the icy water in the winter times because they couldn't build houses on water. The Plimoth Plantation lived on the east cost of Massachusetts.
Jada Arnold

The Plimoth Plantation is interesting because they came in November 11 1620. They came in the mayflower to Massachusetts. But the show we watched of Plimoth Plantation people acted the parts of the reel one. There names were Goodwife Sara and Constance were from the pilgrims, and a Wampanoag indian. They were on a ship for 3 months. They finally got there homes made. They celebrated Thanksgiving and had big feasts. It was a great show.
Trevor Austin

We watched a movie about Plimoth plantation Tuesday. The English people lived in Plimoth. Plimoth plantation was in Massachusetts they came on the Mayflower in 1620. The English had to live on the Mayflower for 3 months during the winter because they had to build their houses. Then the English moved into Plimoth maybe the next year because Jamestown wasn't a good place to live. The girls and boys had few toys they had marbles, those little toys where you try to get the ball on a string into the cup on a stick, balls and little dolls that they learned to make. Plimoth is a living museum people have to act out what the English would do and know all the stuff about them.

Love, Marett Mollnow

Plymouth Plantation 1620: In sixteen twenty the pilgrims (stealers), arrived in the new world on the east cost of Massachusetts. They had left England for religious freedom. They sailed on The Mayflower for about three months. They landed on the east cost of Massachusetts in sixteen twenty. There voyage was over. They had landed. They had to live on the mayflower for about three moths until there house was built (shelter). The pilgrims lived in there shelter for anther nine months through the winter. There were one hundred people that were in the shelter for the first winter, afterwards there were fifty. They finished there houses at the end of the summer. They met a Indian that helped them plant and harvest and cook.

Mr. Curtiss' Writing Corner

In response to the hacker who sent emails to all of Mr. Curtiss' contacts requesting money because he [Mr. Curtiss] is stuck in Scotland after being mugged.

To whom it may concern:

Why did you hack Mr. Curtiss' yahoo account? That is not cool. How can you think that picking on Mr. Curtiss is fun. I hope you get caught and get in a lot of trouble for hacking his account.

-Nick

To whom it may concern:

How dare you steal Mr. Curtiss' email! He is a very nice man! You are a jerk and I hope that someone does this to you and tricks your friends and family. You are a very big meanie!

-Joey

To whom it may concern:

Why did you violate Mr. Curtiss' privacy and make his family worry about him. You are a jerk. I hope that you get in trouble and go to jail.

-Andrew

To whom it may concern:

How dare you steal Mr. Curtiss' email! He does not deserve this. He is a great guy and you are a little punk for what you did. Karma will come back and bite you.

-Julian

To whom it may concern:

You are a jerk for stealing Mr. Curtiss' email. What have his family and friends ever done to you? One day this will come back and bite you. I hope it hurts.

A Visit to Plimoth Plantation

The third, fourth and fifth grade classes met last week to watch a webcast from Plimoth Plantation in Massachusetts. Students learned some interesting facts about the Pilgrims and Wampanoag Indians. Here are some of the comments that students made: "I learned that the Pilgrims made toys and they ate Indian corn. The Mayflower was not big enough for all of the people." (E.D.M.) "The Wampanoags made small round houses from bark." (M.W.) "They used to throw logs as a game." (D.Y.) "I learned that the Wampanoags talked in a different language." (D.A.) "I learned that the Pilgrims and Indians hunted for bear and moose. The Wampanoag Indians made boats out of trees and bark." (C.W.) "They ate different foods like raccoon and deer." (Z.M.)
